

Butler Eagle

BC3 golfers claim conference crown

Article published October 7, 2013

Jordan Johnson fired an 81 Sunday to lead the Butler County Community College men's golf team to a Western Pennsylvania Collegiate Conference title at The Links at Spring Church.

The Pioneers finished the two-day, 36-hole event with 680 total strokes, holding off Westmoreland County Community College, which had 683 strokes.

Johnson carded a 93 on Saturday for a two-day total of 174.

CCAC-South, CCAC-Boyce and CCAC-North also competed in the tournament, which scored the top four golfers both days for each team.

Jayce Corklin paced BC3 with a total score of 165 (82-83). Also contributing to the win were Karns City graduate Tucker Preston (84-83-167), Freeport product Nick Brosius (88-88-176) and Butler's Tyler Friel (92-87-179).

Bill Smith also competed and carded a 93-96-189.

The Pioneers will compete in the Pennsylvania State Invitational, beginning next Sunday at Penn National Golf Club in Chambersburg.