Butler County Community College is continuing their fundraising efforts to support construction of the Heaton Family Learning Commons.

According to a report from the BC3 Education Foundation, the Pioneer Proud Campaign has raised nearly $5 million but is still a bit more than $500,000 short of their goal.

In addition to transforming the library, money raised in this campaign will be used to enhance student access and success, as well as support regional economic development through workforce training programs.

Although the campaign was launched two years ago, a few naming recognition opportunities remain at the library.
